

THE CODE OF THE GRAND CHAPTER OF ROYAL ARCH MASONS OF IOWA

PREFACE

Since the year 1891 the Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons of Iowa has operated under a Constitution and Laws which from time to time have been amended and revised. The latest revision was made in 1938 under a committee of Past Grand High Priests, Clyde C. Hunt, C. H. Eckles and George E. Masters. During the past eighteen years many amendments have been adopted as the growth of membership in Royal Arch Masonry has demanded. At the Grand Chapter Convocation in 1953 Ed S. Lofton, Grand High Priest, recommended that a committee be appointed to revise the Code. His recommendation was approved and in 1954 a committee of three members was appointed and later in 1955 the committee was increased to the five members who have inscribed their names hereto.

At the Regular Convocation in 1956 the committee presented its final report, reviewed its work of revision and arrangement to simplify the Code.

The committee did not rewrite the laws but simply revised and divided the contents so that they would have a more orderly arrangement. Any recommended changes were presented in the form of amendments to the Grand Chapter and were adopted in its Regular Convocation. By this procedure the Code maintains its continuity from the beginning to the present edition.

Mosier, P.G.M, Tim S. Anderson, P. H. P. and Jay Cole Simser, P.G.H.P. Grand Chapter approved the Amendments to the Constitution presented in 2010 and to the Code presented in 2011. (Marshal shall be on left side of officers presented, conducts officers direct to the East, to a point at the foot of the dais.)

Marshal: Excellent High Priest, I present Companion _____ who has been elected to serve this Chapter as High Priest. (Steps back one step.)

Installing Officer: My Companion, in inducting you into office I feel much satisfaction in performing a very pleasing duty. This office is highly honorable to those who perform its important duties. I am confident the officers selected to assist you will strengthen your endeavors and add support to your exertions.

Before your investiture it is necessary that you should signify your assent to those ancient charges and regulations which point out your duties as a High Priest of a Royal Arch Chapter. You sincerely promise:

1. That you will use your best endeavors to promote the happiness of your Companions and the welfare of your Chapter.
2. That you will never suffer your Chapter to be opened unless there be present at least nine Royal Arch Masons.
3. That you will never suffer more or less than three brethren to be exalted in your Chapter at one and the same time.
4. That you will promote the general good of our order, and on all proper occasions be ready to give and receive instruction, particularly from proper authority.
5. That you will be cautious in your behavior, courteous to your Companions, preserve the solemnities of our ceremonies and be faithful to your Chapter.
6. That you will not acknowledge or have intercourse with any Chapter that does not work under a dispensation or a legal warrant.
7. That you will not admit any visitor into your Chapter who has not been exalted in a legally constituted or instituted Chapter of Royal Arch Masons, without his being first formally healed.

8. That you will endeavor to have all degrees conferred in your Chapter with that dignity, decorum and perfection so necessary for developing the fundamental principals of Royal Arch Masonry.

Do you submit to these charges and promise to support these regulations as High Priests have done in all ages before you?

(Answers)

Installing Officer: My Companion, in consequence of your cheerful assent you will now be installed High Priest of Chapter No. in full confidence of your ability. The High Priest of every Chapter has it in special charge to see that all the officers perform their duties faithfully; that true and accurate records are kept by the Secretary; that the Treasurer keeps and renders just accounts of all monies of the Chapter; and that annual dues to the Grand Chapter be regularly and punctually paid.

It is his privilege and duty, together with the King and Scribe to attend the regular convocations of the Grand Chapter either in person, or by proxy, and this duty should not, on any occasion, be omitted.

You will now be invested with your apron, jewel of office and breast plate (invested by Marshal). The breast plate is an imitation of that upon which were engraven the names of the twelve tribes and worn by the High Priest of Israel. You will wear it to remind you of your priestly office.

I present you with the Holy Bible, Square and Compass, the three great lights of Masonry. May they guide you to all truth, direct your path to the temple of happiness, and remind you of the whole duty of man.

You now receive in charge the charter under which you will work; as its lawful custodian, you are carefully to preserve, and duly transmit it to your successor in office.

Also receive in charge the Code of the Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons of Iowa, and the bylaws of your Chapter. (If a new Chapter omit bylaws)

Keep these handy at all times for ready reference.

Companion Marshal, conduct our Companion to his station. (Marshal conducts the Companion to the East; installing officer takes his hand and assists him to the dais) * * *
(All rise)

Installing Officer: I now present you this gavel, an emblem of your rank and authority, wield it, my Companion, with prudence, and discretion. And now, my Companion, I congratulate you on behalf of the craft here assembled in your succession to the honorable station you now fill.

Companions behold your High Priest and remember the success of this Chapter depends on your support, assistance and obedience as much as upon his wisdom and zeal.

* (All seated by new High Priest who then returns gavel to Installing Officer)

Companion Marshal, you will present the remainder of the Companions selected as officers of this Chapter in the order of their rank. (Marshal presents each officer separately, at foot of dais; except the Three Masters of the Veils who are all presented at one time.)

Marshal: Excellent High Priest I present _____ who has been elected to serve this Chapter as King.

Installing Officer: My Companion, you have been elected King of this Chapter and will now be invested with your apron and jewel of office (Marshal invests him). The Level surmounted by a Crown should remind you of the subordination of earthly nobility to the majesty of religious duties. You are to second and support the High Priest in all the requirements of his office and in his absence shall preside. You will be conducted to your station. (Marshal conducts him.)

Marshal: Excellent High Priest, I present _____ who has been elected to serve this Chapter as Scribe.

Installing Officer: My Companion, you have been elected Scribe of this Chapter and will now be invested with your apron and jewel of office (invested by Marshal). The Plumb surmounted by a Turban is an emblem of rectitude and vigilance, and should ever remind you to walk uprightly in your station, admonishing your Companions to fidelity and industry while at labor and to temperance and moderation while at refreshment. In the absence of your superior officers you shall preside. You will be conducted to your station. (Marshal conducts him.)

Marshal: Excellent High Priest, I present _____ who has been elected to serve this Chapter as Treasurer.

Installing Officer: My Companion, you have been elected to serve as Treasurer of this Chapter and will now be invested with your apron and jewel of office. (Marshal invests him.) The crossed keys are an emblem of security and should ever remind you to faithfully discharge your duties to the Chapter. You will be conducted to your station.

(Marshal conducts him.)

Marshal: Excellent High Priest, I present _____ who has been elected to serve this Chapter as Secretary.

Installing Officer: My Companion, you have been elected to serve as Secretary of this Chapter and will now be invested with your apron and jewel of office (invested by Marshal). The crossed pens are an emblem of intelligence, and should ever remind you of promptness in issuing the orders of your superior officers, punctuality in attending convocations of the Chapter, correctness in recording proceedings, judgment in selection of what is proper and improper to be written, regularity in making returns to the Grand Chapter, integrity in accounting for money passing through your hands and promptly paying it over to the Treasurer. You will be conducted to your station. (Marshal conducts him.)

Marshal: Excellent High Priest, I present _____ who has been appointed to serve this Chapter as Captain of the Host.

Installing Officer: My Companion, you have been appointed to serve as Captain of the Host of this Chapter and will now be invested with your apron, sword and jewel of office, a warrior armed with a sword (invested by Marshal). Your office is similar to that of Marshal, or Master of Ceremonies; you will super intend all processions of your Chapter, be ever attentive to the commands of the High Priest and always near at hand to see them executed. You will be conducted to your place in the Chapter. (Marshal conducts him.)

Marshal: Excellent High Priest, I present _____ who has been appointed to serve this Chapter as Principal Sojourner.

Installing Officer: My Companion, you have been appointed to serve as Principal Sojourner of this Chapter and will now be invested with your apron, staff and jewel of office, a Sojourner with his Staff (invested by Marshal). Among your duties the preparation and conducting of candidates is not the least. It is of great importance that as first impressions are durable and hard to erase, you should take care that those impressions should be correct and just, remembering that it is essential that the officer who brings the blind by a way they know not and leads them in paths they have not known, should always be qualified to make darkness light before them and the crooked things straight. You will be conducted to your place in the Chapter. (Marshal conducts him.)

Marshal: Excellent High Priest, I present _____ who has been appointed to serve this Chapter as Royal Arch Captain.

Installing Officer: My Companion, you have been appointed to serve as Royal Arch Captain of this Chapter and will now be invested with your apron, sword, banner and jewel of office, a warrior armed with a sword (invested by Marshal). In conjunction with the Captain of the Host, you will see that none enter this Chapter but such as have traveled the rugged path of trial and that none pass your post without the signet of truth. The white banner placed in your charge is emblematical of that purity of heart and rectitude of conduct which should actuate all those who pass the white veil of the sanctuary. You will now be conducted to your place in the Chapter. (Marshal conducts him.)

Marshal: Excellent High Priest, I present , who have been appointed to serve this Chapter as asters of the Veils. (Marshal conducts Master of Third Veil to the foot of the dais, directing the Masters of the Second and First Veil to follow in single file; then all face the East, and Marshal presents them.)

Installing Officer: My Companions, you have been appointed to serve as Masters of the Veils in this Chapter and will now be invested with your aprons, swords, banners and jewels of office, guards armed with swords (invested by Marshal). Those who are placed as overseers of any work should be well qualified to judge of its beauties and deformities, its excellences and defects, and should be capable of estimating the former and amending the latter. Let no work receive your approval but such as is calculated to adorn and strengthen the Masonic edifice.

Companion Master of the Third Veil, your banner is scarlet and its rich and beautiful color is emblematic of fervency and zeal. It admonishes us that we should be fervent in the exercise of our devotion to God.

Companion Master of the Second Veil, your banner is purple and it is emblematic of union admonishing us to cultivate and improve that spirit of concord and harmony between the brethren of the symbolic degrees and the Companions of the Royal Arch.

Companion Master of the First Veil, your banner is blue, an emblem of universal friendship and benevolence; let us remember that in the mind of a Mason, these virtues should be as expansive as the blue vault of the Heavens.

Finally, my Companions, let the various colors of the banners entrusted to your care admonish you to exercise the several virtues of which they are emblematic and you are to enjoin the practice of those virtues upon all who shall present themselves or the work of their hands, for your inspection. You will be conducted to your Veils. (Marshal conducts them.)

Marshal: Excellent High Priest, I present _____ who has been appointed to serve this Chapter as Sentinel.

Installing Officer: My Companion, you have been appointed to serve as Sentinel of this Chapter and will now be invested with your apron, sword and jewel of office, an orderly armed with a sword (invested by Marshal).

The success of a Chapter depends to a great extent upon its reputation for hospitality and good fellowship and I admonish you to be courteous to all our members and visitors. It is your duty to guard against the approach of cowans or eavesdroppers and to suffer none to pass or repass but such as are qualified. You will be conducted to your place. (Marshal conducts him and returns to his place.)

Installing Officer: (Addressing newly installed High Priest) Excellent High Priest, having been honored by the free suffrage of the members of this Chapter, your demeanor should be such as to repay the honor they have conferred, by an honorable and faithful discharge of your duties in office. This is an important station, not only as it respects the correct practice of our ceremonies, but the public reputation of the Chapter will rise or fall with the skill and fidelity with which you manage its affairs.

You are to see that your officers are capable and faithful in their duties, and that our long established customs suffer no derangement in their hands. Finally, you should be an example to your officers and members, which they need not hesitate to follow; thus securing yourself the favor of heaven, and the applause of your Brethren and Companions.

Installing Officer: (Addressing officers generally) My Companions in office, let us remember that precept and example should advance at an equal pace, and that you should never neglect to practice those moral duties which you are required to teach to others.

Be always ready to furnish examples in your conduct toward your superiors, ready to impart instruction to those within your sphere, who stand in need of and are entitled to receive it, and by constant endeavor strive to improve your knowledge in Capitular Masonry that you will be better prepared for advancement, ever remembering that he who performs this duty even in a subordinate station, is as justly entitled to esteem and respect, as he who is invested with supreme authority.

Installing Officer: (Addressing the Chapter) My Companions, you have seen the several officers of this Chapter duly inducted, heard their promises as to the conduct of their Chapter, and have seen them conducted to their offices. These promises will come to naught, the Chapter cannot advance, nor will the full purpose of this particular branch of Freemasonry be accomplished unless each of you supports and encourages the officers in their endeavors. See to it that, by attendance, appreciation fully expressed, and by our own endeavors, the standards of this Chapter are not lowered nor its high ideals lost because of your neglect or inattention. May your Chapter become beautiful as the Temple, peaceful as the Ark and sacred as its most Holy Place. May your hearts be pure as the Altar, and your conduct as acceptable as the offering. May the approbation of heaven be your encouragement and the testimony of a good conscience your support.

* * * (All rise)

We will now pay tribute to the Flag of our Country. Companion Marshal, (Marshal rises and salutes) you will present the flag of the United States of America. (Marshal goes north, takes flag from its stand, thence west to a point one pace west of altar, turns facing south, thence south to a point directly west of center of altar, turns facing east, dips flag over altar, and holds flag during tribute)

Installing Officer: (or Companion selected to give tribute)

To Thee, Flag of our Country,

we pay the homage of a free people;

Emblem of our liberty, prophetic of the future happiness of millions of God's children.

The toiling masses of mankind lift their faces to thee and see the hope of liberty for their posterity.

In thy folds have been wrapped the mortal remains of our country's heroes; the eulogies pronounced at their tombs are thy praise.

Borne aloft on many a battlefield,

Thou hast ever led a victorious host.

Under thee no sword has ever leaped from its scabbard save for the holy cause of freedom.

Enshrined in thee are the tears of our women and the blood of our soldiers.

When all the monarchies of the world shall have crumbled,

Thy red, white, and blue will still wave over a people blessed with liberty.

Happy is the man who may salute thee as a subject,

O, hope of humanity,

Flag of our Country.

(When tribute is complete, Marshal raises flag, faces north and advances to a point in line with Captain of the Host, faces East, advances and replaces flag in its stand, about faces, thence south to his chair.) (See Diagram No. 5.)

Installing Officer: Companion Marshal, you will make the proclamation. (Marshal goes to west side of altar, faces east, raises right hand, and says:) In the name of the Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons of Iowa, I now proclaim the officers of Chapter No. duly installed in their respective offices by the Public Grand Honors of Masonry. (All give honors, Marshal goes to his place and Chaplain pronounces the following.)

Chaplain: Almighty God, from Whom cometh every good and perfect gift, send down upon Thine servants here assembled, the healthful spirit of Thy grace that they may truly please Thee in all their doings. Grant us the power of mind and understanding unto those who have been clothed with authority to preside over and direct the affairs of this Chapter; and so imbue them with the truths of Masonry and adorn them with humility of life, that by precept and example they may faithfully serve Thee to the glory of Thy holy name and the advancement of our beloved Institution. Amen.

Response—So mote it be.

* All seated (Installing officer hands gavel to the High Priest who takes over the meeting.)
